

Hello! This is Rachel with Mary Kay, do you have a minute?

As you know, I started my own business as a professional Mary Kay beauty consultant just a few months ago and guess what? I am already on my way to one of the top leadership positions with the company!

To help me iron out some of my marketing presentation skills, my Director is doing a training session with me next Thursday September 12th from 4-7pm at the Starbucks off of Barnes & Powers.

As part of my training, I just need 10 amazing ladies such as yourself to come for just 30 minutes to hear the fun facts of Mary Kay and receive a free coffee of your choice from my Director.

Is there any reason why you couldn't come to help me with my training?

Once they say yes, let them know that I will be confirming with them so that we can make sure all of the time slots are filled.

Let me know if you have any questions with this!